'Award Season' for Brookfield Residential

Denver builder's homes impress MAME, magazine judges

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (Oct. 20, 2014) – Brookfield Residential has reaped additional awards for its homebuilding excellence, this time from an industry group and a prominent national trade publication.

At the recent MAME Awards event in Denver, Brookfield won the 2014 award for best architectural design-detached home under 2,200 square feet, for the company's Freestyle 2 (ranch) plan at Brighton Crossing.

Another MAME award went to the Brighton Crossing sales office for "best office under 600 square feet." The award reflects Brookfield's emphasis on customer comfort and the highest level of service available to customers both before and after they tour the Brookfield models.

The Marketing & Merchandising Excellence Awards are sponsored annually by the Sales & Marketing Council and Home Builders Association of Metro Denver.

Also, Builder Magazine recently honored the Englewood-based “Home Evolved” company with a prestigious Builders Choice Grand Award, focusing on Brookfield’s Signature 2 model in the Midtown at Clear Creek development in north Denver/south Adams County. Builder’s Choice judges praised its “attractive exterior, sunny interior, and very creative floorplan.”

Including the Builders Choice “Grand,” the Signature 2 model has now won 11 awards since first opening in 2013.
