Brookfield Residential wins MAME

Architecture of 'Signature' portfolio continues to impress

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (Oct. 20, 2015) – For the third straight year, Brookfield Residential has won recognition for the architectural design of its “new kind of new home.”

At the recent MAME Awards event in Denver, Brookfield won the 2015 award for best architectural design-detached home under 2,200 square feet, for the company’s Signature 1 plan at Solterra in Lakewood.

The award reflects Brookfield’s emphasis on the creative use of space to create a sense of openness and a synergy with the outside living area. Brookfield, whose slogan is “Home Evolved,” calls this emphasis on creativity and innovation a “New Kind of New Home.”

According to the information that Brookfield submitted to the judges, the Signature 1 plan has a great room and patio with “dynamic integration through an angled wall of glass, bringing the outdoors ‘in.’”

The description continues: “The feeling of living large is achieved with the front corner kitchen ‘expanding’ to the living and flex room spaces.

Brookfield also won the MAME award for its Signature 2 plan in Midtown in 2013. Both sets of plans were designed by DTJ Design. In 2014, Brookfield won the MAME award for its Freestyle 2 home in Brighton Crossing.

The annual Marketing & Merchandising Excellence Awards are sponsored by the Home Builders Association of Metro Denver and others.
